TO OUR FRIENDS AND PARTNERS

WELCOME TO THE 10TH EDITION OF LIFE & TIME -- our opportunity to share the inspiring ideas, activities, and experiences on offer at each of our distinctive hotels and resorts around Thailand.

And yet it is no longer only Thailand where we will be operating! Since launching, we have exclusively focused on our home country — growing our various brands organically through the Kingdom’s key destinations and providing guests with staunchly individual experiences that reflect our personality and meet their expectations. Now, for the first time in our history, I’m delighted to announce that we’ll be rolling out two of our brands in Indonesia and Vietnam.

The beautiful 50-room Aleenta Retreat Bali is a spa village and yoga resort nestled in jungle-clad hills of Ubud. It will feature the latest luxury amenities, including an extensive Ayurah Wellness centre, an outdoor yoga area overlooking reflective ponds and a fitness centre that will allow guests to enjoy an invigorating workout in paradise. It’s only fitting that our inaugural international property flies under the Aleenta brand, as this was the pioneering brand in our portfolio.

Also opening its doors in 2021 is akyra Hoi An, a unique waterfront resort that sits midway between Hoi An’s historic town centre and golden China Beach. Guests who have experienced akyra’s hotels and resorts in Bangkok, Phuket and Chiang Mai will be familiar with the brand’s trend-setting style, and we look forward to introducing guests to a new era of contemporary, cutting-edge hospitality in this idyllic location.

Elsewhere in the world of AKARYN, we have achieved our ambitious plan to rid each of our properties of all single-use plastics by June 2019. It’s a small step to tackling a huge problem and we hope that our actions will not only inspire our guests and teams to think twice about plastic consumptions but also our peers throughout the hospitality industry.

Finally, we’re introducing a series of exciting family-focused initiatives at our properties to cater to the rise in popularity of multi-generational travel, which has been one of the industry’s biggest trends in recent years. From inclusive activities that transcend generations to super-sized accommodation options that bring families closer together, we’re ensuring that guests are never short of opportunities to share holiday experiences with loved ones.

Read on for more insights into our multi-generational initiatives, single-use plastic ban, new international resorts and of course much more!

After developing a rich portfolio of resort and urban concepts in Thailand’s most desirable destinations, AKARYN is taking its first overseas steps with the exciting unveiling of two brand-new hotels in Indonesia and Vietnam.

A SPA VILLAGE AND YOGA RESORT NESTLED IN JUNGLE-CLAD HILLS OF UBUD, the 50-room Aleenta Retreat Bali is one of the ‘Island of the Gods’ most highly-anticipated additions in 2020. It will feature the latest luxury amenities, including an extensive Ayurah Wellness centre, where guests can unwind with an array of soothing treatments, including traditional Balinese massages and natural therapies. An outdoor yoga area will overlook reflective ponds and a fitness centre will allow guests to enjoy an invigorating workout in paradise. The property is designed to reflect the timeless charm and character of its destination, featuring large living spaces and world-class facilities while also operating in harmony with the environment.

ALSO OPENING ITS DOORS IN 2021 IS akyra HOI AN, a unique waterfront resort that sits midway between Hoi An’s historic town centre and golden Chua Beach. Located on the banks of the Thu Bon estuary, this low-rise boutique retreat will be accessible either by car or by boat and many of the 110 stylish rooms and pool villas will sit on the water’s edge. With its peaceful and picturesque waterfront setting, halfway between the city and the sea, akyra Hoi An will allow visitors to discover everything this charming destination has to offer.

Companywide pledge to eliminate single-use plastics in partnership with the Pure Blue Foundation achieved in June 2019

SINGLE-USE PLASTICS ARE THE SCOURGE OF THE ENVIRONMENT and we have been challenged by reducing them in the hospitality industry too. Last year, AKARYN Hotel Group made a commitment to finally get rid of them all from all levels of operations.

It sounds something that is fairly easy to achieve until it is really looked into; it not only requires the hotel to change its practices but for it to convince its suppliers to consider new ways of working too. In short, it is about working together to a common goal – to cut out the single-use plastics, many of which end up polluting our streets, fields and oceans.

“THE JOURNEY TO A NO SINGLE-USE PLASTIC FUTURE STARTED IN 2018.” This began with the opening of akyra TAS Sukhumvit Bangkok last year, followed by akyra Manor Chiang Mai and now I’m proud that we have achieved no single-use plastic status at all six of our hotels and resorts in Bangkok, Phuket, Hua Hin and Chiang Mai,” says AKARYN Hotel Group Founder Anchalika Kijkanakorn.

“We offer all guests stylish stainless-steel, refillable water bottles on arrival, as well as refillable, organic toiletries and amenities using essential oil products, with biodegradable packaging. We even encourage guests to think of the environment outside of the hotels, with reusable shopping totes offered in every room, and no single-use plastic is used in the bars or restaurants.

“I’m delighted to say it’s working. Please help us continue so we can ensure plastic is reduced as much as is possible from our hotels. It’s a huge credit to our team. If they do not believe in it, it will not happen. It started from some small steps but we are getting there and we are free at last from all single-use plastics.”

COOK A THAI CLASSIC WITH A TWIST

SOM TAM & CHARDONNAY RESTAURANT
akyra Banglow Hotel, Bangkok

A bright, spacious dining destination based on an East Meets West concept with exquisite Thai cuisine complemented by international specials and a wide selection of fine wines to bring out the flavour of the freshest ingredients. The restaurant lives up to its name with no less than five different som tam dishes on the menu; Thailand’s famous green papaya salad, served with shrimp, soft shell crab, fish, Thai sausage or even as a mixed fruit platter. Som Tam & Chardonnay opens onto the expansive pool terrace and is also the venue for the daily gourmet breakfast, an indulgent spread providing a nourishing start to an inspiring day in the city.

SOM TAM RECIPE

Ingredients:
• 120g of fish sauce
• 250g of tamarind
• 400g of palm sugar
• 2 cloves of garlic
• 3 bird’s eye chillis
• 30g of long beans cut into 5cm pieces
• 50g of cherry tomatoes, halved
• 10g of roasted peanuts
• 10g of dried shrimp
• 250g of shredded papaya
• 50g of shredded carrot
• 10g of fresh lime juice

How to make it:
• Put a pot on medium heat and add the fish sauce, tamarind and palm sugar. Stir until the sugar dissolves and the sauce takes on the consistency of heavy syrup
• Remove the sauce from the heat and set aside
• In a mortar, add garlic and bird’s eye chillis and lightly crush with a pestle
• Add long beans, cherry tomatoes, peanuts and dried shrimps to the mortar and lightly crush and mix well with a pestle
• Add papaya, carrot, som tam sauce and lime juice. Again, lightly crush and mix well with a pestle
• Adjust the seasoning with more fish sauce, som tam sauce and lime juice as needed
It has been almost four years since the successful debut of akyra Manor Chiang Mai and much has changed in that time. Known affectionately as the Rose of the North, Thailand’s unofficial second city has continued to blossom as a diverse tourist destination in recent years, catering to a wide demographic of first-time travellers, thrill-seekers and well-heeled visitors. Here we catch up with Christophe Gestin, General Manager at akyra Manor Chiang Mai to discuss how the resort has evolved, the introduction of eco-friendly initiatives and what the future holds for the bustling city.

What have been some changes and developments since the property launched four years ago?
The hotel evolves all the time as we always find ways to do things better and benefit our guests and community. We were awarded the Small Luxury Hotels award for Love of Local and this is something we are proud of. Our front office team is very well connected with the art scene so we frequently use the hotel as a gallery to showcase local talent to our guests. By doing so we believe it helps them get more exposure for their work is our very small contribution to Chiang Mai’s buzzing art scene.

And of course, our biggest milestone is the implementation of the no single-use plastic policy in the hotel. Although this is something that AKARYN Hotel Group has now implemented in all its hotels, we’re very proud to have introduced the policy ahead of schedule in October 2018. It’s a demonstration of just how committed our team here is to sustainable tourism.

Why do you think akyra Chiang Mai has been such a hit since opening?
The all-suite hotel is truly unique. It is the only luxury contemporary boutique hotel in town with an avant-garde, cutting-edge design. The incredible vibes — and views — from the rooftop bar, Rise, and huge pool are also major drawcards! It is however our team that is our biggest asset and unique selling point. I believe we have some of sweetest and kindest people in town working in the hotel who constantly exceed guest satisfaction and care about creating great memories for everybody who stays with us.

Tell us about some of the latest market trends to have emerged?
With so many different accommodation options available these days, I believe that what makes a boutique hotel really unique is its warm, efficient and personalised service as well as a really interesting and exciting food & beverage offering. We don’t just put heads in beds; we create long lasting experiences and tailor our offerings to the specific needs of each guest’s expectations. Sustainability is also a must now and will become the norm pretty soon, I believe. How well the hotel integrates with the destination is dependent on how well it benefits the local community, and it’s one of the main reasons why many of our guests keep coming back — from day one through to year four.

What are you doing to celebrate the four-year anniversary?
We have already hosted a number of events including art auctions and the Pure Blue Foundation fundraiser for the local schools. We’re now really looking forward to hosting the upcoming Food Galore event at the hotel, which will showcase local ingredients and a signature degustation menu from our extremely talented chef.

Corporate social responsibility clearly plays a strong role at the hotel. Could you tell us a little about more about this?
We have always wanted to integrate the hotel within the destination in a sustainable way so that the local community would benefit from us. For example, our Executive Chef always strives to find quality locally-sourced products from small family-owned suppliers, even if it means paying a bit more, as it helps them to make a living and we believe it truly makes a difference. We have also sponsored two schools since the hotel opened and it is especially rewarding to measure afterwards the impact we had on the daily lives of the kids and teachers. The entire team is also fully committed to this initiative, so the hard work doesn’t just stop at the hotel doors. With a few lifestyle choice changes, we can all make a difference and this was truly important to us.
